

Amirom

Abbreviations: mrm: amirom, -nm: -neme, wo: word order, ws: writing system.

Mrm is my personal language, designed to represent my views, and with a focus on poetry and poetic meanings (“far” – flower/transgender, “narkisos” (stolen from greek) – narcissus (daffodil)/introvert, “amiri” – love/pride(as in gay/trans/lgbtqia+ pride))
It’s made to be easy to make dialects of, in fact it’s encouraged.

Sounds And Orthography:

phonms

j → /as in Yes
w → /as in Win
l → /as in Leave, but without velarization r → /as in beTTer, the tap version (as in castillian caRa)

Grammar:

The wo is free, however, the default is SOV.
There's case marking for this:

*note- if an affix/word ends in -i (noi, -bei, soi), it gets strengthened to -s if you put an affix after it (nos-en, amiri-bes-ej, sos-d'insen) part 1: nouns!

-(e)n → /locative, indirect object, allative
-(e)i → /direct object
-d'insen → /inessive, illative
-d'oten → /ablative, elative
-ka → /cause
-tsa → /for (the benefit of)
-sa → /like (sth)
-iak → /property of (sb)
suf- → /vocative
mia- → /big!!! :O
lij- → /tiny 'v'

part 2: verbs

-n → /(this is a verb)
ot- → /future
man- → /past
-lox → /simple aspect
-im → /volitive form
-(e)te → /potential form suf- → /imperative (as in "DO X!")
-suf → /imperative (as in "i must do x")
-mai → /causative, help form
-bei → /doer
-(e)k → /receiver
-ins → /start to

part 3: adjectives

am- → /very little im- → /kinda um- → /normally
on- → /a lot
em- → /too much

these can be combined. if you combine multiple noun affixes, they're treated as the same noun with different cases (ofc this also means that 2 nouns in the same case are "[X] and [Y]"). "fair" means flower/bloom/transgender/transition. translate this: "on-fair fair fair-ka-n-es-d'insen-d'oten man-ot-fair-mas-uf-es-imi" for the lazy, it's "a really transgender trans person was going to make a trans person transition on a flower, because of (their) transness from the trans person into the trans person" while we're talking about affixes (and gender), these are the gender prefixes. you can use them optionally. if you speak a gendered language, you can gender stuff as how they're gendered in your language, that is, if you wanna be looked at like a dumbass.:

gender	best approximation (gender can get fuzzy)	prefix	etymology
boy	togre	tog-	(own root)
girl	frere	fre-	(own root)
nonbinary (your own gender, unrelated to the binary ones)	nioure	njou-	(own root) agender	nansre	nans-	(zero) pangender	canezansere	canezans-	(100/many) somewhere in between	insare	insa-	(inside)
two-spirit	terere	ter-	(2)
three-spirit	canre	can-	(3)
